JEWELL PLUMMER COBB
President CSUF

It is a pleasure to congratulate you on completion of your academic program at California State University, Fullerton. During these past years, you no doubt struggled at times with difficult concepts and new ideas. On occasion, you may have felt overwhelmed by term papers, examinations and homework. But now that you have succeeded, I am sure you will agree that the effort was worthwhile. The joy of a job well done is now yours. The future for you is bright because you now have earned the credentials that testify to the society at large that you are, in fact, an individual with exceptional capabilities to lead, to evaluate the world around you and to express yourself effectively both verbally and in writing.

The tangible evidence for the product of an education is often invisible. You can't touch it, see it or feel it. However, as the years go by and you settle into your career, you will see and feel the impact of your marvelous education.

Now that you have graduated, you will continue to be a part of our family as a Cal State Fullerton alumnus. We hope that you will keep in touch with us and that you will come back to the campus often to participate in various alumni programs and university-wide events.

May I extend to you my heartfelt wishes for a good life and productive future.

C. JANE YEO, President
CSUF Alumni Association

On behalf of your Alumni Association Board of Directors may I welcome you to our Alumni family, and congratulate you upon your graduation from California State University Fullerton. Your academic achievement has earned you membership in our Association, which we think will become increasingly significant as time passes.

The fact that you are a CSUF "Alum" indicate that you are well prepared to serve society in your special way. The graduates who have preceded you have lighted the way for you, and the reflection of their successes have given the University a widely recognized reputation for excellence which surpasses its youth.

Your Alumni Association hopes you will now take the opportunity to enter into a new kind of reciprocal relationship with the University, one in which we serve each other.

As a member of the Alumni Association, you retain many of the privileges granted to students, among which are use of the library and recreational facilities, and reduced rates for a variety of campus events. The Association will keep you informed through its quarterly newsletter as it expands services and benefits for its graduates.

You can serve the University by volunteering your time, talents and financial support. The Alumni Association recently completed a study of six areas of campus life where your input and participation will be of great value. You will be informed of specific needs through our newsletter, and we invite you to respond when and where you are able.

Our very important Alumni-University relationship requires constant contact with each of you. Therefore, it is essential that you inform the Alumni Affairs office, which is on campus, of your current address, and any change of your address, so that we can maintain this vital link.

The very best of everything to each of you as you travel your own paths to the future.

School of the Arts

*JERRY SAMUELSON, Dean
School of the Arts*

California State University, Fullerton was one of the earliest State Colleges to establish a School of the Arts. From its beginning, this institution has emphasized creative excellence and has demonstrated a continuing commitment to the professional development of the artist.

Orange County today can be seen as a thriving "hot bed" of creative activity, in music, art, theatre and dance. Fullerton graduates populate the arts community in great abundance and are extremely active in their pursuits as creative artists. Many have excelled as individual artists while others have been active participants in industry and education.

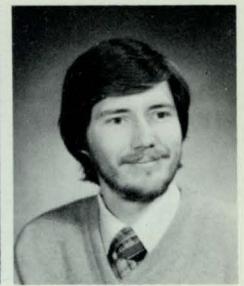

The CSUF School of the Arts Faculty takes pride in many professional successes of our students and looks forward to the professional accomplishments of our new graduates.

HENRY R. ANDERSON, Dean
School of Business & Economics

On behalf of the faculty and staff in the School of Business Administration and Economics, I would like to relay our best wishes on your completion of another academic year here at California State University, Fullerton. The SBAE continues to grow in number of students and in stature within the community, due in large part to the successful efforts of our alumni. In addition, the members of our faculty have established themselves through teaching and research efforts as one of the best business faculties in the country.

During 1981-82, our main objective was to create a satellite computer lab within the SBAE. Thanks to the university's commitment to this project, we opened the doors to the new lab in early April.

1982-83 will usher in our first year as an "Impacted" business school. The demand for our courses far exceeds our ability to provide professors and classrooms necessary to satisfy that demand. We will introduce a "pre-business" classification for all lower division students next year and specific criteria will have to be met before a student becomes a business major in his/her junior year. The administrators within the school are working hard to make this transition as painless as possible for our students.

For those of you who are graduating, I wish you much success in your future endeavors. Please return to campus whenever you are in the area because we would like to keep in contact with you. For those of you returning to campus, we plan to continue to provide a quality educational program for you in the years ahead.

School of Human Development and Community Service

PETER A. FACIONE, Dean
School of Human Development & Community Service

If there were only one attitude that I would hope that you, as graduates of the School of Human Development and Community Service, would exhibit in your careers, that attitude would be one of caring professionalism. The caring professional is a person who treats people as people, not a machine who treats people like things. He or she is one who is knowledgeable both technically and theoretically, understanding and being able to explain not just what to do, but how and why it is done. The caring professional is responsible to the needs of the profession itself including the need to attract the best persons as professional colleagues. Caring professionals seek new and better ways to serve; they treat the profession as something they become, not just as jobs they do. Integrity and a constant pursuit of excellence in practice are hallmarks of the caring professional. Active pursuit of continuing professional renewal and growth are seen as essential.

As you continue your careers and grow in ability you will learn things that would help us here at CSUF achieve our goals as caring professionals to continually improve our programs. We expect and welcome your advice. We seek and we need your support. We look forward to a relationship with you as colleagues with mutual interests and concerns.

DON A. SCHWEITZER, Dean
School of Humanities & Social Sciences

On behalf of the faculty of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences, I extend sincere congratulations to you, the 1982 graduates of California State University, Fullerton.

Each of you is the product of a unique life history and is moving toward an individual future. Nevertheless, you share with one another the common experience of having been students at CSUF. It is my hope that experience will be useful to you, regardless of your future, and that you will value the efforts we have made to educate you.

The success or failure of those efforts at education is not always evident upon graduation. The problem-solving abilities and the value orientation that are at the roof of the disciplines in this school are usually better seen as one makes important life choices. Frequently, these choices do not come until some years after commencement. In the meantime, it is important to remember that the acquiring of your degree does not end your education. You have not learned all there is to learn. We hope, however, that you have learned how to learn and that you will continue to practice those learning skills. That activity, above all others, will mark you as an educated person and will lead to success in whatever is before you.

For the faculty of the School and for myself, I offer best wishes for a successful, rewarding, and fulfilling future.

*A. JAMES DIEFENDERFER, Dean
School of Mathematics, Science & Engineering*

You are to be congratulated for your success. Your achievements have come through intelligence and hard work. We are proud both of you and your accomplishments.

During the years you have spent here in the School of Mathematics, Science and Engineering, profound changes have taken place in our society. High regard is accorded for the skills possessed by scientists, engineers and mathematicians. You will find that you are most welcome in our society. We are confident that your educational experiences here will have prepared you in an outstanding manner to become contributing members of the society.

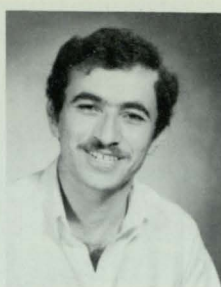

We the faculty, staff and administration wish you continued success in your life. We hope, as you have left an imprint upon us, that your experiences gained at CSUF will continue to provide positive support for your continued growth in the years ahead.
